MONDAY......April 14, 1873. The half-and-half policy which has for some time characterized the dealings of government with the "noble red man" reached a logical culmination in the coolly plaumed assassination of General Canby and Peace Commissioners Thomas and Meacham while in conference with the leaders of the Modoc tribe on Friday last, the sickening details of which are given elsewhere in to-day's paper.

This event will have the effect to sadden and at the same time arouse to just indignation the whole country. Of the murdered commissioners but little is known here; but in the death of General Canby the country sustains a loss it can poorly afford. In all the attributes which go to make up the highest type of soldier and citizen no man in the army was his superior. We doubt, indeed, whether his equal can be named; and this is said with due recognition of and the highest respect for the long list of bright names inscribed on its rolls.

In the deep gloom which his untimely and melancholy death has cast over all hearfs there is fittle need of questioning as to the proper course to be pursued towards his cowardly murderers and their comrades It is idle now to talk of a peace policy or measures of reconciliation. It is worse than idle. The life of one such man as General Canby is worth more to the world and the age in which he lived than ten thousand, yes than a hundred thousand of the brutal thieving outlaws who so treacherously way of avenging his death. That is by sweeping from the face of the earth the whole miserable bands and this, it is a comfort in this sad hour to know, the government has ordered to be done. Nothing short of this will be worth anything. Let them be wiped out root and branch, even though it requires the concentration of the whole army at the lava beds and the callfng out of half the inhabitants of the Pacific slope as volunteers. There is only one thing under heaven that the Indian fears or respects. That is irresistible power, promptly exerted, and to the last degree. He has a supreme contempt for half-way measures, and he despises mercy. He keeps faith only with superior force rigorously exercised, and he makes a show of rude honor only to betray. It is now time, therefore, for the government to make him understand that the price of treachery is extermination. This course is due, not less to the memory of the gallant dead than to the government itself. It lars in the moral effect it will have on the other tribes, who are watching with eager interest the result in this case, and who will be quick to profit in their cruel way by any hesitation or sentimental clemency. Let us have no more faltering. The christian policy, as it is falsely called, sounds well from the pulpit and on paper, but it is too costly to be indulged in practically for every day use. Let Generals Sherman and Sheridan have their way untrameled for a little

Ex-Representative Roosevelt had a good deal to say in Congress at one time and another about the sums paid to the papers of this city for advertising by the District government. He had a way of rolling his eyes altogether too much to be perfectly honest in his horror, as any one could see; but we didn't think his fingers were so badly tarred with the same stick as recent developments show them to have been. It appears, however, by the official statement of the Controller of New York that the ex-honorable gentleman's wishy-washy weekly paper The Citizen and Round Table was subsidised by the corrupt Tammany ring, which ruled New York, by official advertising to the extent of $83,946.50 during the five years preceding its death; and this, too, in the face of the fact that with its limited circulation all its columns together couldn't possibly have been worth the tenth part of that sum in the period of time named. $16,000 a year and over subsidy from Tammany isn't bad for a reformer! But 'twas ever thus with these high-toned fellows who are always reading moral lectures to the

It turns out now that the Spanish authorities in Cuba have arrested O'Kelley, the Herald man, not because he is a correspondent, but because he is dubbed "commissioner," which they conceive to be something very much more awful and dangerous than a mere correspondent, as we doubt not it must be. Now, if the same authorities, or some other, equally powerful and determined, will only corral all the other young newspaper gentlemen who are weak enough to style themselves "commissioners," they will confer a lasting favor on the public generally and on the press guild specially. Likewise they will materially lighten the labors of the fool-killer, whose duties, by the way, are becoming so much more arduous every year that they are in danger of being neglected altogether.

The political pot is beginning to simmer again in Virginia, although the next election for state officers and a new legislature will not take place until November. The state republican committee have fixed upon Lynchburg as the place and the 30th day of July as the time of holding the republican convention to nominate a Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General. Col. Robert W. Hughes, of Abingdon, is talked of as the republican candidate for Governor, C. P. Ramsdell, of Surrey county, as Lieutenant Governor, and Lunsford L. Lewis, of Culpeper county, half-brother of Senator Lewis, as Attorney General. Encouraged by their success in carrying the state for Grant, the republicans express confidence of electing state officers and a legislature in November.

Among the few doctors in the world who are willing to take their own medicine are Rowell & Co., the great New York advertising agents Not only does this firm induce other people to advertise liberally, but they advertise their own business very largely; and, as an evidence that they are in earnest in the matter, they offer one dollar to every person who will read through the two-column advertisement which they print in some of the New York papers of Sat-

The ice companies of New York are combining to raise the price of ice during the coming summer to a figure even higher than it was last year. There is not the slightest reason for this proposed extortion, and the movement means nothing more nor less than organized robbery.

The noble army of commuters are doubtless already getting their petitions up to save the neck of Captain Jack. The Rev. Dr. Tyng will perhaps be able to call to mind that the captain graduated at his Sunday school.

The Republican, with hands full of clerkship extra compensation grab and STAR items, is still unrepentant. The lamp holds out to burn, PINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. Last week in Wall street was noted for the Last week in Wall street was noted for the persistent and extraordinary stringency in money, the stock brokers paying on Saturday all the way from 7 to 160 per cent. per annum for the use of balances during the interval to Monday morning. The gold clique took advantage of a thin market to run the price up to 1194. With all this, stocks stood the pressure with remarkable firmness, while government bonds were exceedingly strong. The bank statement proved favorable, and promises relief to the money market.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Office Chief Signal Officer, MASHINGTON, D. C., April 14, 1873, 11 a. m.

Synopsis for the past twenty-four hours—
The storm center that was Sunday morning east of Care Cod has moved very slowly eastward, and is still apparently over Massachusetts bay. Northeasterly winds backing to northwest, with cloudy weather, prevail over New England, and light rain or snow has been reported from the immediate coast. easterly winds backing to northwest, with cloudy weather, prevail over New England, and light rain or snow has been reported from the immediate coast. The area of highest barometer has moved slowly eastward, with diminishing pressure, and is now central over the south Atlantic states. Diminishing northwesterly winds, with clear weather, prevail over the south Atlantic and middle states. Northeasterly winds and failing barometer are reported from Lake Erie. The storm center that was Suaday morning in Dakota has continued slowly developing over Nethaska and Kansas, where the lowest pressure is now reported. Increasing southeasterly winds, with threatening weather, prevail in the western gulf states and thence northward to Minnesota. Cold northerly gales, with snow, apparently prevail in southern Dakota.

PROBABLITIES.—During the rest of Monday the storm center in the Missouri valley extend eastward into Illinois. For the gulf states southeasterly wind, threatening and rainy weather. For the south Atlantic states falling barometer, southeasterly winds, rising temperature, and heavy or cloudy weather. For the middle states the barometer rise somewhat, followed Monday afternoon by diminishing pressure, southwesterly winds, except possibly in New York, and generally heavy weather. For southern New England rising barometer, northwesterly winds, and cloudy or clearing weather. For the upper lakes fresh to brisk, and possibly high, southeasterly winds, backing to northeast. For the northwest cold northerly gales and cloudy weather. Cautionary signals continue at Boston, Portland, Eastport, Chicago, Grand Haven, Milwankee and Duluth. Morning reports are missing from Maine, Texas, the northwest and Rocky Mountain stations

CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES SUSTAINED IN CONSEQUENCE OF IMPROVEMENTS.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA. WASHINGTON. April 10, 1873. (
The following act, approved June 20, 1872, is published for the information of all concerned:
As Act providing for the payment of damages sustained by reason of public improvements or repairs pairs.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembty of the District of Columbia, That on the application, in writing, of the owner or owners of any real estate in the District of Columbia, or of any person having other than a rental interest therein, to the Board of Public Works, setting forth that special damages have been sustained by him or them in consequence have been sustained by him or them in consequence of any improvements or repairs made by said board, and particularly describing the nature of said damages, the said board shall consider the statements of said application, and if deemed by them sufficient for that purpose, the said board, or a majority thereof, shall personally inspect the property alleged to be specially damaged, and make, or cause to be made, any examination connected with said improvements or repairs which they may deem necessary or proper.

provements or repairs which they may deem necessary or proper.

SEC. 2. And be it farther enacted. That if, after inspection and examination as aforesaid, the said board, or a majority thereof, shall be of the opinion that special damages have been sustained by any person or persons, as aforesaid, they shall estimate the same, taking into consideration the benefits to said property from said improvements or repairs, and file among the records of their office and in the office of the Secretary of the District written statements of their action and estimate of damages, and shall make a full report, in writing, to the next ensuing session of the Legislative Assembly of all applications made to them under the provisions of this act, and of their action thereon, and of the amounts awarded as damages and the reasons and grounds of such awards, for the action of the Legislative Assembly thereon; and no sum shall be paid on account of damages until after the same shall have been approved by the Legislative Assembly and an appropriation made for the payment of the same.

Notice is hereby given, that all parties claiming and an appropriation made to the parties claiming damages under the above act must file their petitions for the same at the Office of the Board within TEN days from this date, in order that such claims may be duly considered and reported to the Legislative Assembly for its action.

How ead it is to see a young wife, a mother of family who requires all her physical strength to funfill her household duties, and all her moral capacities to accept the responsibility which falls upon her, to see her prostrated, losing every day her strength, feeling badly without being able to say why, but yet suffering enough to be utterly miserable! This state of weakness and debility is more fatal to her than a severe spell of sickness, for in that case she will receive the proper care, as in the other she will linger months after months, not thinking worth while to see a physician about it, until nature, exhausted, gives out, and she is carried to the grave, when a little precaution in proper time would have spared her life. To prevent, to strengthen, to cure, nothing can compare with the LONG-LIFE BITTERS of Dr. L. G. BEETRAM. They are a safe and infallible remedy against malaria, dyspessia, contiveness, biliousness, headaches, morning sickness and all complaints peculiar to women. These Bitters, which are sold by all druggists, are, in consequence of their virtue and most agreeable taste, the medicine per excellence for ladies. medicine per excellence for ladies.
